

Bodegas de Crianza de Castilla la Vieja Palacio de Bornos Verdejo

The Producer

It was in 1976 that Antonio Sanz, who knew the great potential of producing high quality white wines in Rueda, decided to set up his own winery. As an enthusiastic and innovative wine maker, and always looking into improving the quality of his wines, Antonio Sanz introduced the Sauvignon Blanc grape to create Bornos Sauvignon Blanc. The wines are made using cool fermentation to extract as much flavour as possible. The resulting wines are clean, fresh and offer incredible value.

Tasting Note

On the nose, this wine has a fantastic aromatic intensity with a great variety of flavours—tropical fruit in particular. On the palate, it is dry and well balanced with a crisp acidity and a great intensity of citrus and tropical fruit. The finish is pleasant and persistent.

Food Matches

This is the perfect wine for salads, grilled chicken, and appetizers or just to sip with good conversation.
